It's a New Year and with it comes the chance to explore new places and revisit favorite haunts.

If you're looking for a new patch of land to explore in your RV, consider Point Reyes in Western Marin County. Its rolling green hills, fine foods and wild ocean vistas remind one of Ireland. In fact, the intrepid traveler may even stumble across evidence that an Old World prince once knocked back a pint in this neck of the woods.

After you head down to the 25th Annual

Manufacturers RV Show in Pleasanton this Friday, I've got some ideas for you. But before we get into that, let me tell you about our 25th anniversary show. It's going to be a big one. In just a few days there will be a multitude of manufacturers on hand ready to wheel and deal on the West Coast's best selection of recreational vehicles and accessories.

After our amazing show, point the rig toward Point Reyes Station and experience one of the wildest coasts California has to offer. First, check out Olema RV Resort and Campground, where you can enjoy a few days nestled in the stunning wilderness surrounded by seashore. From there, be sure to explore the thunderous ocean breakers, rocky headlands, expansive sand beaches and evidence of the many unique cultures that have occupied the area over thousands of years at the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Once you've worked up an appetite, be sure to make your way to Hog Island to enjoy some of the best oysters in the world; or put together a picnic at Cowgirl Creamery in Point Reyes Station; or sink your teeth into one of the best burgers around at Marin Sun Farms Butcher Shop.

Ready to quench your thirst and kick up your heels? Head over to Point Reyes Station's Old Western Saloon, where the beer is cold and the weekend bands are hot! While you're there, be sure to look around for clues to a royal visit!

Whatever your travel plans might be, we're sure they'll be better in an RV. So make sure to head down to our show in Pleasanton at the Alameda

County Fairgrounds between January 11-21. We'll have hundreds of RVs of all makes and models under one tent at prices that can't be beat!

See you at the show!
