Happy holidays RV lovers!

This last week has left no doubt that winter has arrived. The snow is falling, the wind is blowing and rain is strafing the state. While some might want to huddle in their homes to wait out winter's wrath, RVers are made of sterner stuff and most likely want to enjoy the winter wonderland these storms are producing.

Well, I have some ideas for how you can while away the winter days before the 25th Annual Manufacturers RV Show roars into Pleasanton on January 11. Our 25th anniversary show will have a multitude of manufacturers on hand ready to wheel and deal on an extraordinary selection of recreational vehicles and accessories that will warm the cockles of your heart. But before then why don't you ring in the New Year in Truckee, with its charming Old West store fronts, easy access to Tahoe and miles and miles of beautiful winter scenery.

The snow has been falling fast in the Sierras, providing a multitude of options for family fun. First, point the rig toward Coachland RV Park and enjoy a few silent nights among the tall pines. For thrill seekers, the area offers a host of world-class ski resorts where you can get steep and deep in the Tahoe powder. For those of you into more low-speed pursuits, the Truckee area offers a multitude of options for snowshoeing and cross country skiing. And when your frolicking has worn you out and given you a bear of an appetite, Truckee offers a number of delicious dining options.

Whatever your holiday plans might be, we're sure they'll be better in an RV. So once 2013 rolls in, make sure to head down to our show in Pleasanton at the Alameda County Fairgrounds between January 11-21. We'll have hundreds of RVs of all makes and models under one tent at prices that can't be beat!

See you at the show!
